HOUSE CAUCUS AGREES TO PASS MEASURE ADVOCATED BY TAFT

The Democratic Majority Has Agreed to Stand by the President and Pass the Canadian Reciprocity Measure, After Which the Free List Will be Materially Increased.

INSURGENTS GAIN RECOGNITION

House Elects Committees and Republican Bolters Are Well Remembered With Places—Adison and Lenroot Placed on Important Rules Committee Where Minority Has but Four Members—Longworth Stays on Ways and Means.

Washington, April 12.—Accepting Mr. Taft's pledge that he would not propose to Congress the house caucus of Democrats decided to act on reciprocity first and then to bring in a bill which would materially increase the free list.

The measure, which will be brought into the house immediately after adjournment, will include the following articles: Agricultural implements, such as plows, harrows, reapers, binders and mowers, boots and shoes, saddles and saddlery, wire fencing, baling wire, cotton bawking and the coarse sacks, bullock, lumber, dressed meats and meat products, and various machines.

COMMITTEES ELECTED

House Republicans Ratify Work of Chairman Mann.

Washington, April 12.—After the full committee lists had been presented by Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee, the standing committee of the house of representatives were elected by that body.

The Republican members of the respective committees became known for the first time when the full committee assignments were presented to the house. Prepared by Minority Leader James R. Mann at the direction of the Republican caucus, the minority committee selections contained many surprises for the house.

The desire to accord impartial treatment to the insurgent Republicans is shown in the number of choice committee places given to them by Mr. Mann. Two of the leading insurgents, Representatives Madison of Kansas and Lenroot of Wisconsin, are given places on the rules committee, where the Republicans have but four choices.

Good Gets Good Berth.

Representative Good of Iowa is appointed to the appropriations committee, considered a particularly choice berth. Representative Hanger of Iowa is made ranking Republican member of the committee on agriculture. Representative Kopp of Wisconsin is placed on the naval affairs committee. Representative Norris of Nebraska on the judiciary committee, and other insurgents receive important assignments.

Former Speaker Cannon becomes ranking Republican member of the appropriations committee. He was chairman of this committee for several years before he became speaker, and the retirement of James A. Taylor, recently chairman of the committee, will probably make the former speaker the Republican leader in debates on appropriation matters.

Ohio Republicans who landed on committees are as follows:

Longworth on ways and means and liquor traffic committee; Taylor on appropriations; Howland on judiciary; Willis on elections No. 1 and territories; Switzer on elections No. 2 and mines.

Seidel Worried by Personal Attacks by Enemies.

Milwaukee, April 12.—Almost distracted by worry because of bitter personal attacks made upon him of late, Mayor Emil Seidel, the city's Socialist executive, has gone away for an indefinite stay. His wife and secretary decline to disclose his whereabouts other than to say that he is with friends.

JOHNSON FUNERAL PRIVATE

Only Services Will Be Held in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Cleveland, O., April 12.—There was no funeral service for Tom L. Johnson in Cleveland. The body was removed from the Whitehall, where Mr. Johnson died, to the Johnson family apartments in the Knickerbocker, and this afternoon it was taken to the Union passenger station and conveyed to Brooklyn, N. Y. The burial will take place at Greenwood cemetery there tomorrow forenoon at 11:30, and the only service will be conducted there by the Rev. Dr. Harris R. Cooley.

The Cleveland pallbearers were A. R. Lyport, Newton D. Baker, C. W. Stage, Frederick H. Goff, Peter De Witt, W. B. Gonsky, Fred C. Alber and John N. Stockwell. The pallbearers who will act in New York will be William Jennings Bryan, C. M. Bates, Ben T. Cable, A. J. Moxley, Lincoln Steffens, Henry George, Jr., August Lewis and Philip A. Lrennan.

Committee of Five to Conduct The New Lorimer Investigation

Senator La Follette reopened the Lorimer scandal when he introduced a resolution appointing a select committee of five to investigate charges of corruption in the election of William Lorimer and to report their findings to the senate. An extraordinary feature of the resolution is that it names the five senators instead of directing a standing committee to make the investigation. Another unique feature of the measure is that all five are new members of the senate. They are John D. Works of California, an insurgent; Charles E. Townsend of Michigan, a "near" insurgent; and George P. McLean, a regular, from Connecticut, with John W. Kern of Indiana and Atlee Pomerene of Ohio, both Democrats.

LIQUOR PROBLEM ELIMINATED

Wets and Drys Will Be Given Opportunity to Settle Differences as Separate Proposition—Greeves Sunday Baseball Bills Are Now Up to Governor Harmon—House Passes Hollinger Tax Commission Code After Numerous Amendments Are Made.

Columbus, O., April 12.—After killing the amendments which sought to strike out of the Green constitutional convention bill all of the nonpartisan election features and have delegates elected under party emblems, the senate passed the measure. Ted Mahoning and Andrews of Lawrence threw their influence and votes to the Democrats for the elimination of the partisan features of the bill.

The senate further amended the bill so that all delegates shall be nominated by petition only, thereby taking control of nominations out of the hands of party bosses. Another amendment adopted provides that the liquor question shall be submitted to the people separately from the rest of the constitution when completed.

Todd of Franklin, Johnson of Hamilton and Deaton of Lucas led the fight for the party method of electing delegates.

The senate passed the Greeves Sunday baseball bills, both of which have gone through the house. One knocks Sunday baseball games from Airship Has Successful Trip.

Berlin, April 12.—Count Zeppelin's airship "Deutschland" arrived at Dusseldorf after a trip of 180 miles along the Rhine. The airship covered the distance in four hours and 45 minutes, carrying 15 passengers. Some difficulty was experienced in landing and it was nearly an hour after the arrival over Dusseldorf before the passengers were safely on the ground.

Owners Of Waist Factory Indicted

Charged With Deaths of 145 In New York Fire.

New York, April 12.—Indictments charging manslaughter in the first degree were returned by the grand jury against Max Block and Isaac Harris, owners of the Triangle Shirtwaist company, in whose factory in the Asch building 145 men and women workers lost their lives a fortnight ago.

The grand jury investigating the case found that the regulations were violated, the exit doors were kept locked, and that partitions had been constructed in conflict with the building code which prevented the girls getting to the elevators or stairs ways.

District Attorney Whitman said, following the report of the grand jury, that the investigation has now been completed, but he refused to say whether he expects other indictments.

Patten Gets Rid Of Corn

Will Devote Rest of Life to Helping Worthy Charities.

Chicago, April 12.—"Social service" is to be the guiding star of James A. Patten in the distribution of his fortune for the benefit of humanity during his lifetime. Mr. Patten has set about the disbursement of his wealth and has given to the most appealing charities no less than $2,000,000 within the last six months.

Half a million dollars was donated to the cause of Mexican research in the "white plague." Another large contribution was for the protection and education of that neglected class called "the children of the pathetic estate." A public park has been provided for in Evanston. Substantial aid has been extended to the Young Men's Christian association for enlargement of the scope of that institution in dealing with the young men of this and succeeding generations.

Child Hurled From Train.

East Liverpool, O., April 12.—Bearing every indication of having been hurled from the window of a train, the body of a female infant, thought to be about two days old, was found lying between the C. & P. railroad tracks, 12 miles east of this city.

MEXICAN REBELS HOLD WOMEN

Brother of Prisoner in Southern California Mining Town Accuses American Consul of Neglect of Duty. Admiral Refuses to Land Force Until Orders Are Received From Washington—Berthold's Band Well Armed and Trouble is Feared.

San Diego, Cal., April 12.—Every effort is being made by friends to secure the release of H. Barth, his wife and five children of this city, who are held prisoners in a coral at Alamo, in Lower California, according to advices received here. It is said that several other American women also are in the coral, and that they have been subjected to indignities by insurgents under command of Simon Berthold, the American who has been active in the insurrection.

O. Henry Savage, a relative of Mrs. Barth, appeared to Secretary Knox at Washington, and the latter promptly telegraphed the facts to the American ambassador at Mexico City, Rear Admiral Cuthbert Thomas, in command of the second division of the Pacific fleet, has been urged by Savage to send a warship to Ensenada. He replied that he could do nothing until he received orders from Washington.

H. B. Sumner, the American consul at Ensenada, is accused of negligence by Savage. The Americans were all working at a mine when Berthold captured the place and made them prisoners. He is strongly entrenched and Savage believes the situation is desperate.

READY TO GREET REBELS

American Mine Owner Builds Fort and Buys Arms.

San Antonio, Tex., April 12.—A letter received here from Guanajuato, the capital city of the Mexican state of that name in central Mexico, tells of the unique preparations that have been made there by an American mining engineer to stand off any and all insurgents that may show their heads and keep his mines working under the most trying conditions. This American is known as Joe Bill McDonald, and the thing he has done to insure the operation of his properties is to build a fort over them and to stock it with 1,000 stands of rifles and 100,000 rounds of ammunition.

This action Joe Bill McDonald has taken despite the fact that he is on Mexican soil and within a few miles of the palace of the governor of Guanajuato. In fact the governor, who has only a handful of troops to guard his frontiers, is right glad that Joe Bill has taken such a positive initiative.

In that section so the report says, starvation is becoming painfully evident because of the successive failure of three crops. Federal recruiting from the mines and smelters has reduced the mass of the people to the lowest state. The great coal mines of Mexico in the district above Torreon are now being closed down or running on part time, and by controlling the railroad south of the mines the insurgents are able at any time to shut off the coal supply altogether.

Gold Village Destroyed.

A NEW TRIPPLE ALLIANCE TO BETTER SANITARY CONDITIONS BIG CAMPAIGN NOW BEGUN

Health Board, With Territory Bounded by North, Market, Hinde and East Streets as a Nucleus, Determines to Actually Enforce Laws and Ordinances---Galvanized Iron, Tight Top Cans for All Refuse Matter---Trash Piles Will be Forbidden---Don't Tell Your Neighbor---Tell the Man, Sherman A. Murray, Health Officer.

The Board of Health at their last meeting issued orders to the health officer, Sherman A. Murray, to notify all parties within the business district of our city, bounded by the four streets, North, Market, Hinde and East, that they must put their properties in sanitary condition under the city ordinance.

Under this ordinance it is necessary to change all out-door closets to conform to those described in the ordinance.

The notices were mailed out Tuesday night and parties are given ten days in which to comply.

This is the beginning of a thorough campaign along sanitary lines and the Board of Health enters upon it knowing that it will mean strenuous effort and unceasing vigilance. It is not a campaign limited to a portion of the town or to certain evils. It is intended to clean up the whole town, and to put in a healthful condition, which will undoubtedly lower the death rate and remove from the Board of Health all responsibility for the ill resulting from poor sanitation and lack of healthy surroundings.

All groceries, restaurants, fruit stands and other places of business where there is an accumulation of perishable stuff, will be required to put all this waste in galvanized tanks, with tight lids, so that they will be no danger from the germs of decay.

All merchants will be required to keep the rear end of their lots and stores in good condition and there will be no tolerance of trash. The golden rule of "do unto others" will be enforced by law if necessary and the neighbor receive protection from the menace that lies in trash piles and debris.

Quite a number of orders have been issued by the Board of Health in reference to taking dogs out of the corporation. No one will be allowed to keep dogs within the city limits except on a permit issued from the Board of Health, which permit requires the conforming to certain conditions laid down by the Board of Health.

All complaints of unsanitary conditions should be filed with Health Officer Murray or telephoned to him, Citizens phone 2354.

There has been considerable general complaint from time to time, but in order to accomplish the purposes of the Board of Health these must be specific complaints. It is not the thing to tell the neighbors and then blame the Health Board.

The Board greatly desires that the citizens of our town co-operate in this great movement. There are many abuses of health ordinances that may go unchecked for a long period unless

WILL REBUILD GREENFIELD M. E. CHURCH THIS SPRING

Within a few days the work of rebuilding Greenfield's M. E. church, which was destroyed by fire last year, will commence, as enough money has been pledged to warrant the beginning of a new house of worship to take the place of the magnificent stone structure which was the pride of all Greenfield.

It had been decided to use the walls of the old structure as they stood, but the fire had greatly weakened them and they will be pulled down and new walls laid. The Greenfield M. E. church has been destroyed upon three occasions by the fire fiend.

MOTHER FOLLOWS TWO CHILDREN

This morning at 5:30 o'clock Mrs. George M. Reed, aged 31 years, passed away at the residence on Market street after a lengthy illness. She had been ill previous to the horrible death of Miss Hastings, who was burned to death in the Reed home by a gasoline explosion some few weeks ago, and has been growing worse since the shock. Her husband, father, sister and Rev. West were at her bedside when death came. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the residence, after which the remains will be taken to Bellefontaine for interment.

Mr. Reed, the husband, is almost heart broken, as this is the third death in his family since last August, two children having preceded the mother. Mr. Reed is manager of the Parish Furniture Co.

ANOTHER BATHROOM SUICIDE

Sam VanPelt Opens New Garage

Sam Van Pelt, formerly with the Hodge Garage, and one of the best automobile mechanics in the city, has opened up an automobile repair shop in the Ireland building in the rear of the Murray Undertaking establishment, where he is ready to handle all kinds of repair work, etc. He will be assisted by Harry McGeehan in addition to repair work. Mr. Van Pelt will handle all new and used cars, and is also taking the Dr. A. A. Ireland office on either end of the alley.

In Communication Anyway

Mr. Frank Johnson who a few days ago opened up communication with some of the financial men back of the D. T. & I. mention of which was made in THE HERALD at the time, with a view to securing the location of the shops, has received the following answer to his letter of inquiry.

Mr. Frank Johnson, Washington, D. C., Ohio.

Your favor 7th we beg to say the reorganization of the D. T. & I. has progressed sufficiently for us to be able to say what plan will be adopted, or whether the improvements will be carried out or not. Very truly yours,

SUCCESSFUL APPLICANTS FOR TEACHERS' CERTIFICATES

Seventeen persons were successful in passing the last teacher's examination held in this city, while thirty-seven were not successful in obtaining the coveted certificate. Two young ladies, Miss Hazel McCord and Hazel Davids made the required average, but were not awarded certificates because of their age, each being under 18 years.

J. C. Coit, Washington, was awarded a 60 months certificate while T. H. Everhart, of Ada, receives a 36 months certificate. Three 24 months certificates were awarded as follows: Ray Luttrell, Jamestown; John Luttrell, Jamestown; and Maude Eagleton, Bloomingburg.

Those who received 12 months' certificates are: Pauline Jones, Jeffersonville; Lela Wood, Good Hope; Mabel Dewitt, Washington; E. L. Noble, Madison Mills; Ilo Taylor, Good Hope; Mattie Blessing, Washington; May Rigging, Pancoastburg; Cora Rader, Bloomingburg; Thomas Anderson, Pancoastburg; C. F. McFadden, Washington; Raymond Turnipseed, Selden; and Mazie Christy of New Holland.

It will be observed that ten out of the seventeen were ladies.

EASTER MARKET

The ladies of the Christian church will hold their annual Easter sale in the Sherman room on Court street, formerly occupied by the piano store. Everything good to eat. Also aprons and sunbonnets for sale. The public is asked to give the ladies the support which has been given them each year at their regular Easter sale. SECY.

Dedication Of New Church April 23

On Sunday, April 23, the magnificent new $20,000 Methodist Episcopal church of New Holland will be dedicated. Bishop Moore of Cincinnati officiating. The church is virtually completed now, and is one of the most beautiful and modern edifices in this part of Ohio. It was erected at a cost of about $20,000. Bishop Moore will also address the audience morning and evening of the 23rd. One of the largest meetings ever held in New Holland is expected to take place when the dedication ceremonies occur. Rev. W. E. Prior who assisted in building the Jeffersonville M. E. church, is responsible for the movement to construct a new edifice in New Holland.

Secretary of the Fayette County Fair Board, W. B. Rogers, has just announced the stakes to be given at the Fayette County Fair, which will be held August 22, 23, 24 and 25, this year, and the inducements in the line of stakes are even more attractive than usual.

The total amount offered in stakes is $1500, the same as last year, but the conditions of entry are somewhat different, and changed to allow horsemen a month after the entry is filed in which to name the horse which is to make the race.

The fast pace has been changed from 2:15 of last year, to 2:14 this year, allowing all horses with a record of 2:13 1/4, to be eligible to the stakes. The stakes are:

2:25 trot, stake $500.

2:14 pace, stake $500.

2:25 pace, stake $500.

Five per cent. must be paid to enter, and five per cent. additional from money winners. Payments must be made, $2 on May 1st; $3 on May 15th; $5 on June 1st; $5 on July 1st; $5 on August 1st, and $5 night before the race. Horse to be named June 1st. By allowing the horse to be named one month after entry will give every horseman the opportunity of thoroughly trying out his string of horses and ascertaining just which one he thinks is best. The backward season has prevented working the horses to some extent.

Mr. Rogers has just mailed several hundred announcements of the stakes offered, dates of fair, etc.

The board is negotiating with Price's Premier Band to furnish music for the fair again this year, that body of musicians having given such splendid satisfaction on previous occasions. The negotiations are said to be virtually closed now, so that patrons of the fair can rest assured of the very best of band music again.

The board is determined to spare no effort to make the coming fair a record breaker in every way.

Miss Ida Dean In Critical Condition

Word has been received from Chicago that Miss Ida Dean, who has been ill at the home of her niece, Mrs. Allen Titus, has taken a sudden turn for the worse and physicians are hourly expecting the end.

This is sad news for the many Washington friends of Miss Dean, who yet realize that her recovery is impossible and hope for a peaceful cessation of her sufferings.

Miss Dean has been an invalid for three years, but refused to give up her life work of teaching until a little more than a year ago, when she went to Chicago to make her home with her niece.

Her record of 27 years as a teacher in our public schools is a remarkable one. She had been a pupil of the Washington schools when a young girl, and returned to enter them as a teacher in January, 1883, resigning January, 1910.

A test is to be made of the value of the fibre of the cotton bearing trees which grow wild in Sonora and Sinaloa, Mexico. The tree is known to the Mexicans as the adobe. The staple of the cotton is not as long as that grown by the American planter, but there is no need of ginning it. Merely laying it with a pole while it is spread out on a canvas or a floor will rid it of the seeds. The staple is about an inch long.

Charles Cummins, a rancher who has a hacienda near La Pastoria in Sonora, has been experimenting with the cotton and is preparing to put up a small mill to weave it as an experiment. He believes that he will be able to produce a cloth as good as anything that can be made from ordinary cotton, and if he says there is enough of the product in Mexico to supply that country with all the cotton goods it will need.

The Mexicans have never attempted to weave the fibre, but they have for ages been using the lint for filling mattresses and pillows, and they find that it is far superior to ordinary cotton as it is spongy and does not gather into knots.

The bolls are much larger than the cotton bolls. The method of the Mexicans in gathering the cotton is to pull the bolls just about the time they are ripe enough to open and before they begin to drop their contents, and to let them dry, when they will crack open and the lint can be removed readily. The lint is then piled on a canvas for a floor and is flailed after the old fashioned way of threshing wheat, and the seeds readily drop out of the lint. The fibre is then gathered up and is ready for use.

Mr. Cummins says the fibre is stronger than the American cotton and he believes the cloth will be more durable.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL MUSEUM

AT THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

Second Only to Harvard

The Archaeological Museum, owned jointly by the Ohio State University and the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, is located in Page Hall, where more than 10,000 square feet of floor space is used in displaying the collection.

According to Mr. W. C. Mills, curator of the museum, the society's collection is the second largest in the United States, being surpassed only by that of Harvard University. This fact is not generally known, even to the people of Columbus and Ohio, and in fact many students of the university are not aware of the educational value and importance of the collection.

In fact the number of specimens has reached such proportions that they can no longer be adequately displayed in their present quarters.

Of the thousands of specimens on display, special mention may be made of the beautiful beaded work, the arrow points of various shapes, the copper plates showing a marked degree of mechanical genius in their construction, all of which were discovered by Mr. Mills in his explorations of the mounds of Ohio. The chief exhibits illustrating the life of prehistoric man in Ohio are from the Beane village site, Garner mound and village site, Adena mound, Harpers mound, Ft. Ancient, the lower Scioto and Muskingum valleys. These are more or less familiar to the residents of Ohio through the published reports of the explorations by the society.

During 1904 more than 10,000 specimens belonging to the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society were placed on exhibition at the World's Fair at St. Louis, and received the grand prize.

At the Jamestown Tercentennial in 1893, a similar reward also crowned Mr. Mills' work.

Two recent additions to the collection have been received but can not be mounted, owing to lack of space. One collection, presented by George S. Porter, formerly of Columbus, now of Chicago, is one of rare Oriental and East Indian art patterns. The other is a duplicate collection from Harvard and is equalled only by its counterpart on exhibition at that university.

The Historical Museum occupies two large exhibition rooms on the first floor of Page Hall and comprises many specimens of interest to Ohio people, such as the first printing press in Franklin county, used in printing the first issues of the Ohio State Journal; original model of John Fitch's first steam engine; the Spanish flag that floated over Manila at the time of the surrender; the first millstones used in grinding corn at Fort Harmar, 1788; photographs, models and paintings illustrating the early settlements in Ohio.

Best Exhibit at State Fair by Ex-Student to Take Trophy.

Students in the College of Agriculture of the State University have displayed their interest in the sheep industry by giving a silver trophy cup to be contested for at the Ohio State fair. Subscriptions amounting to and given by club.

The cup is of classic design and stands eleven and a half inches high and bears the following inscription:

The Ohio Students' Cup, offered by the students of the College of Agriculture of Ohio State University for the best exhibit at the Ohio State Fair of a flock, consisting of one breeding ram, two yearling ewes, and two ewe lambs, the same bred, purchased and registered to be bred, fed and exhibited by a person who has had at least one term in Animal Husbandry work in the College of Agriculture. For permanent ownership the cup must be won three times.

NOTINGS FROM THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

Hilbert Tatt, nephew of President Tatt, witnessed a spring demonstration given by the University on the campus recently, and expressed great satisfaction in the work. Mr. Tatt is connected with the Cincinnati Time Star and owns a fruit farm near Hamilton, O.

On Friday, April 14, in the judging pavilion, the Animal Husbandry Department will conduct its annual public shearing exhibition and shearing competition. The work will begin at about 9 in the morning and will occupy the greater part of the day. These exhibitions have always attracted many visitors to the University.

A bronze tablet to the memory of Dr. Edward Orton is to be placed in Orton Hall and unveiled during Commencement week on Alumni day. The tablet will be designed by Professor T. E. French of the University.

HARMLESS GUNPOWDER.

This Little Boy Knew How to Make a Safe and Sane Fourth.

It was the day after a strenuous Fourth of July and again was resting in her room next the swimming pool, where Douglas, Fern, and Margaret, three, were playing.

The annual excitement of the day before seemed to have worn on Madeira's nerves and for suddenly a piercing shriek came from a small child, followed by a gust of laughter from her little sister. When this was repeated several times, the mother, who was investigating, and the two older girls, who saw the cause of the merriment, rushed to the rescue.

"What are you doing to your little sister?"

"Oh," he said, "I'm not hurting her at all, mama. I'm playing my little sister is a firecracker and I'm just setting her off."

An Exaggerated Description.

Mrs. Jack Gardner of Boston has taken up the Audubon Society's war against the Merry Widow hat.

"This hat is the worst combination of ugliness and extravagance ever known," she said at a recent dinner. "The number of feathers required to trim the hat is astonishing. Its up-lifting effect causes one of a delicate constitution to feel dizzy."

A detective was testifying in the case of a woman shoplifter whom he had arrested in her bedroom.

"And your Honor," he said, "when I told her the crime she turned her back to me and swallowed a purse."

six suits of silk underwear, a silver candlestick, a chafing dish and—"Rubbish! Are you crazy?" the Magistrate interrupted.

"Excuse me. What I mean to say your Honor," explained the detective "is that she swallowed the pawn ticket."

Home No. 137—TELEPHONES—BELL, MAIN No. 179

LET THE NAME ALONE.

At least one "old citizen", who it is believed, a majority of the people in this city will uphold, becomes righteously indignant at the move to drop the "C. H." from the name of the local postoffice.

While in this indignant state of mind the "old citizen" writes a letter which was published in THE HERALD of Tuesday in the "Letters from the People" column. His views on the movement are set forth in no uncertain tone and his wishes in the premises can not be misunderstood.

According to the communication (and there seems to be no dispute about the fact) some one very quietly circulated a petition to have the "C. H." dropped from the name of the postoffice, secured about two pages and a half of signatures and fired it on to Washington, where it will form the basis of affirmative action as requested in the petition, unless the people get busy and forward to the department a remonstrance. These remonstrances addressed to the department may be found at all of the local banks. Any one desiring to protest against this revolutionary and unnecessary change of name can and should attach his name before Thursday evening. On Friday morning the remonstrances will be mailed to Washington City.

Why this move to change the name of the postoffice any way?

The only possible excuse was that when that other Washington in Guernsey county did not contain the prefix "Old" there was some confusion in the mail. All that trouble has now been eliminated by changing the name of the other Washington and to allow the historic old "C. H." to remain attached to our name, would only be an added safeguard against confusion in the mails.

This being manifestly true there is only one reason for making the change—an irrepressible desire to do something regardless of cost or consequence—to make a change simply for the sake of a change.

Our good people whose parents and relatives have made that name known throughout the nation might reluctantly consent to part with it if it became a necessity, but they will scarcely consent to it peaceably to gratify a mere idle whim and desire of some one who has not personally or by ancestors, learned to love and rever that name.

That name just as it stands means home to those who were born and raised here and that name has long been one of the distinguishing characteristics of the city. From ocean to ocean it is known as Washington C. H. and, especially when there is no substantial reason for making the change, the people want it let alone.

For the next half century this people and their descendants would be compelled to go about the land making a reputation for "Washington, Ohio" and explaining that that was the same place as the famous old "Washington C. H." which was wiped off the map.

Then when the question is asked why was the change made what can the answer be except "Oh cause!"

"A rose by any other name would smell as sweet" may be quoted, but there would be an awful howl go up all over the world if some one would take it into his head to have the name of the rose changed to "cabbage".

There should be a good reason—some real necessity—for making any change which means the divorce of an honored name from a community which has made that name what it is.

We of Washington C. H. and our ancestors have been part and parcel of the nerve force and brain force which has won fame and glory for that name and we want what reward it now brings in the way of public acknowledgement and appreciation of a good work well done.

What good is the C. H. any way; it might be thoughtlessly asked.

Just as much good as the "phi" is to Philadelphia or the "nati" to Cincinnati. It associates the place and the people who live in that place, instantly in the mind of all who hear it mentioned.

It is of the same value as any honored name is to its possessor. It links achievement and locality and people in one bond.

The one best asset a man or a community can have is a good name. When once obtained a good name is too valuable an asset to throw away.

A good name is hard to get and hard to keep, and rare indeed are the instances where an established good name has been swapped for another even though the newly acquired is shorter and even though the trade satisfies an abnormally developed desire for change.

We have an established good name. Is there any reason why we should not keep it?

No.
Let every man who believes that take a pen in his fist and put his "John Hancock" down on one of these remonstrances and "Do it now."

Let these remonstrances pour into Washington City in order that the postoffice department may know we appreciate a good thing when we get it and are not willing to trade our birth right for the sake of simply making a trade.

Let our name alone.

POETRY FOR TODAY

SMILE AND HUSTLE.

When your plans go all awry,
Smile and hustle.
Not a bit of use to cry.
Smile and hustle.
Waste of time to fret and scold;
Brace, and get another hold;
Meet the future brave and bold—
Smile and hustle.

Some big scheme wound up in wreck?
Smile and hustle?
Bad luck smite you in the neck?
Smile and hustle.
Be a man among big men,
Grab a hold and try again.
Spit upon your hands, and then
Smile and hustle.

When a brave man hits the bumps—
Smile and hustle.
Then is when he up and humps.
Smile and hustle.
Waste of time to weep and wail,
Just forget that small word "fail."
Don't moon round till you go stale—
Smile and hustle.

Everybody has had luck.
Smile and hustle.
That's the time to show your pluck.
Smile and hustle.
Say, "Hard luck, goodbye to you!"
Start off on a tack that's new.
Keep straight on with purpose true.
Smile and hustle.

The Teeth of the Sheep.

It is much easier to tell the age of sheep than it is to guess a woman's age, says the Pennsylvania Farmer. Prof. Gaumnitz of Minnesota, who has been studying the sheep, says that fine wool sheep live much longer than medium or coarse wool sheep. The former have been used as breeders from one to eight years, and the latter from one to six, and more rarely seven years. This indicates the extreme period of usefulness in the flock. The prime of life probably extends from one to five or six years. The lamb has a short and small head as opposed to the head of the mature sheep. Its teeth are smaller in every way. They are usually smooth and white as opposed to a more corrugated darkened surface in the old sheep. The age of sheep is told by the four pairs of incisors which are found only on the lower front jaw. These are all present by the time the lamb is six weeks old. In the yearling the central pair of small incisor teeth are replaced with a large pair when the lamb is 10 to 14 months old. They are at least twice as wide and much better than those at either side. At two years old the animal gets a second pair of large teeth. At three years it gets a third pair of large teeth. It would then have three pairs of large teeth and one pair of small or lamb teeth. The four-year-old has a full mouth of four pairs of large teeth. The entire ones are never as large as those in the center.

Repairs Free for Poor Scholars.

It is proposed that the books and clothes of needy children in attendance at the London County Councils day and residential special schools shall be repaired free of cost to the parents in connection with the text making and tailoring classes conducted at such schools. It is held that the work would afford useful and necessary practice for pupils in these classes, and no expense beyond that already authorized would be incurred.

Until a calf is three weeks old it should be fed on new milk at as near a blood temperature as possible. It is not necessary to feed a calf more than morning and night, except in very cold weather. As a rule for the first week a calf that is to be raised by the hand should not be fed to exceed two quarts at a feed. A Jersey calf even less than that. The second week add a pint, and the third week another pint. The third week the milk may be warm, sweet, skimmed milk. The fourth week make the feed half new milk and half sweet skimmed milk. The fifth week make the ration four quarts at a feed of sweet skimmed warm milk, and mix a ration of 20 for it consisting of ground oats, 20 pounds; wheat middlings, 10 pounds and linseed oil meal, five pounds. Place a handful of this on top of the milk in the bucket, but don't stir it in the milk. Part of this will stay on top of the milk and part will go to the bottom. But after the calf has drunk the milk it will lick down the meal, and in doing it will secrete a lot of saliva to swallow with the meal, which aids in its digestion.

A Reliable Medicine—Not a Narcotic

Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house." The genuine is in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. Blackmer & Tanquary.

Hawaiian Islands Overrun By Japs

Are Held In Bondage on Big Plantations.

Washington, April 12.—President Taft has in his hands a report in which the broad statement is made that a great majority of the inhabitants of Hawaii are living in vassalage; that for all practical purposes they are owned body and soul by the sugar planters; and that the assertion of interested parties that white men can not do the work on the islands is an absolute lie. It comes from Commissioner Keefe of the bureau of immigration. Keefe spent three months making a first-hand investigation, and a congressional inquiry will probably be demanded. It is also likely that drastic immigration laws affecting the yellow race will be enacted as a result.

"Almost one-half of the inhabitants of the island are Japanese," declares Keefe. "Their numbers are increasing rapidly. In another decade the islands will be little more than a Japanese settlement. Virtually all of the Japanese have seen military service at home and would constitute an excellent Japanese Hawaiian division in case of hostilities."

"The great majority of the inhabitants are virtually vassals, compelled to work long hours by the sugar planters, who pay only starvation wages."

Reno, Nev., April 12.—Frank Heine and Elias Part, while on their way to the Homestead mine, some 40 miles south of Searchlight, came across a man nearly dead from thirst and hunger. The man's name has not been ascertained, but it was found that he belonged to a party of three sent out by the Smithsonian institution of Washington, D. C. The party had been searching for Indian arrows and marks of the aborigines in the neighborhood of Spirit Mountain. In their wanderings they had become separated from their Indian guide, and this one man lost track of his companions. He wandered aimlessly around looking for water, and when found had had neither food nor water for two days, and but for the timely arrival of help would have soon perished.

Cox Case Argued And Submitted

Cincinnati Lawyer Says Supreme Court Has No Jurisdiction.

Columbus, O., April 12.—Lawrence K. Maxwell, representing George H. Cox, indicted political boss and banker, in the supreme court declared that that court had no jurisdiction in the case which had been brought to its attention by Prosecutor Hunt of Hamilton county.

The action was an application to file a petition in quo warranto to enjoin Presiding Judge Charles J. Hunt from acting as supervising judge of the common pleas court of Hamilton county, and to enjoin Judge Jackson from hearing the Cox case under assignment from Judge Hunt.

Maxwell declared that he would not go into the merits of such a proceeding, because he did not believe the court had any jurisdiction, there having been a final judgment on the question in the circuit court, from which there could be no appeal.

The case of the state was presented by Prosecutor Hunt. He argued that under the statutes of the state, there was no supervising judge, and that in acting as such, Judge Hunt was violating the interests of the people.

Noted Puzzler Dies In Brooklyn

Sam Loyd Amused Children of Three Generations.

New York, April 12.—Samuel Loyd died at his home in Brooklyn. The children of more than three generations have known Samuel Loyd and his puzzles. Fifty years ago, when a young man, Loyd, educated as a civil engineer at German universities, invented in an idle moment the famous "donkey puzzle," of which over a billion copies have been printed. Some of Loyd's best-known and most widely sold puzzles are "fifteen blocks," "get off the earth" and the "donkey."

Loyd believed in puzzle practice as a means of education for youths of stunted mentality. His theory was that a child who normally detested mathematical problems, if interested in figures from the puzzle end, would unconsciously teach himself to think properly, concentrate his mind, and in the end acquire the same facility in dealing with mathematical problems of an identical nature as those treated in the puzzle with much less wear and tear upon his gray matter.

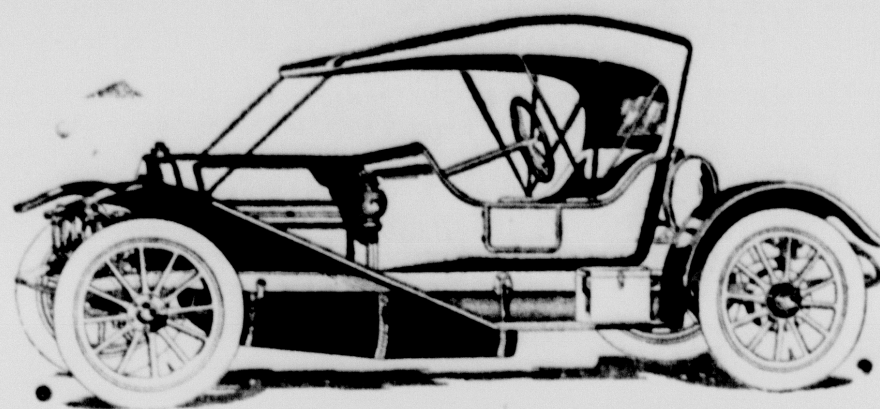

Hyde Granted New Trial.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 12.—Dr. B. Clark Hyde, the pathologist, who was convicted of poisoning Colonel Thomas H. Swope, the millionaire philanthropist of Kansas City, Mo., was granted a new trial by the state supreme court in a decision which reverses the conviction in the lower courts. The opinion, written by Judge Franklin Ferris, contains about 12,000 words and goes into a technical and detailed account of the alleged crime.

TEMPLE LODGE WORK FIRST DEGREE EXEMPLIFIED ATTAINS AN ENVIABLE REPUTATION

Invitations Extended to All the Surrounding Lodges, and Over Two Hundred Witnessed Fine Degree Work and Enjoyed the Hospitality of Lodge---Notables in the Order Attend.

Last night was another memorable one in the history of Temple Lodge No. 227, I. O. O. F., when the first degree was exemplified by the "Imperial" Degree Staff, which is rapidly attaining an enviable reputation for the high class manner in which the first degree is conferred.

Invitations had been extended to all of the surrounding lodges, and over 200 witnessed the fine degree work and enjoyed the hospitality of the ever hospitable Temple Lodge. Noble Grand P. E. Decatur was in the chair.

Representatives from the lodges at Columbus, Dayton, Mt. Sterling, London, Milledgeville, Sabina, Jeffersonville, Greenfield, Jamestown, New Martinsburg, Leesburg, Bainbridge, Wilmington, Atlanta, Clarksburg and Rockford, were present, and thoroughly pleased and delighted with the exemplification of the first degree by Temple Lodge's splendid team, of which H. D. Chaffin is the captain.

Nine candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the first degree. These candidates were: George D. Craft, Wm. Swartz, Carson Maddox, Chas. Jeffers, Sam Van Pelt, Grant DeGroot, Chas. Hard, H. A. Anker and Leroy Kneisley.

Grand Secretary Wm. H. Lyman, of Columbus, was present, together with Captain Nietert of the Buckeye Degree staff of Dayton, and both expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the manner in which the work was conferred. Grand Secretary Lyman became very enthusiastic in a speech during the social hour which followed the work, and said that it was the best work he had ever witnessed, and that when Temple Lodge Degree Staff goes to Indianapolis next fall to participate in the $1000 contest at the Supreme Grand Lodge meeting, there was not the least reason why the staff should not win the $1000 prize.

After refreshments, consisting of coffee, sandwiches and pickles were served, speeches were made by the distinguished officer and the representatives from every lodge present. The flattering comment offered on the work of the evening was most gratifying to the fifty members of the degree staff.

The "Buckeye" degree staff is the best in Ohio, and an attempt was made to charter a special car and bring the entire staff over last night, but failed at the last minute. The "Imperial" degree staff will make the "Buckeyes" look to their laurels.

Great enthusiasm prevails in Temple Lodge over the crack degree staff, and which reflects credit upon the lodge and our city.

Removes Big Stock Of Liquor

Deputy Sheriff of Clinton county, Oscar Moore, made a trip to Sabina a few days ago, and removed the large stock of liquor confiscated in the raid on the Samson Grove and R. E. Lawrence "blind tiger" some few weeks ago. The liquor required a two-horse wagon to transfer it to Wilmington, where it will be used as evidence in the case of State of Ohio vs. Grove and Lawrence for bootlegging. This is the case in which the defendants were found "half way" guilty on one count.

OVERLOOKED STEER

Cattle men hereabouts are telling a good joke on Chancey Holland, the veteran cattle man of Bloomingburg. According to rumor Alex Thompson, about three weeks ago, bought a carload of fat cattle from Clark Rogers who resides north of Bloomingburg.

Holland was to load the cattle at the Bloomingburg stock pens. Rogers delivered the cattle, among them one 1650 pound steer. Holland arrived shortly after and attended to loading the bunch in the cars. After the work was done and the car sealed and pulled out on the main track, Holland for the first time missed the big steer which was enjoying life lying down, when the others were loaded.

He was brought to Washington and shipped from this point a few days later. Holland is being joked for having overlooked his big steer.

BEESON LAND SELLS FOR GOOD PRICE

For the third time the 251 acres of land lying in the southwestern section of this county, known as the Beeson land, was offered at public sale Tuesday afternoon at the door of the court house.

This is an exceptionally fine piece of farming land and has each time it was offered for sale brought an increased price. The sale was made by the sheriff by virtue of an order of partition issued in an action for partition brought by Sallie E. Coffey vs. Stella B. Slaughter and others.

Joseph Coffey bid in the land at the sale Tuesday at a price of $106.53 per acre. Confirmation of the sale has not yet been made.

Attorney Frank A. Chaffin brought the action for partition.

EARL ROGERS SETTLES UP

Earl Rogers, who has been languishing in the county jail since Saturday in default of payment of fines aggregating $250, indicted by Mayor Allen for keeping a place where intoxicating liquors were being sold, and keeping a gambling house, was released from custody today.

Rogers' home on East Paint street was raided Saturday night by the police and four men aside from Rogers brought to headquarters.

Only today did Rogers succeed in raising the "where-withal" to satisfy the laws degree.

Broken Promises Leads To Losing of Mind

NEW YORK.—(Special)—Three "mental tragedies" have lately been recorded in New York. Any one of which might have furnished an interesting study for alienists.

Three years ago George Fedder's wife died. On her death bed she obtained a promise from Fedder that he would never marry again. The widower kept the promise until a few weeks ago, when he again became a benedict.

No sooner was the second ceremony performed than Fedder became obsessed with the thought that the spirit of his first wife was haunting him. Her wraith seemed always near him. Fedder soon became a nervous wreck, and he ended his troubles by drowning.

After brooding for nearly eight years over the fact that it was his engine that crashed into a Newark street car, killing nine school children, engineer Leon C. Barcliff, an old lackawanna employee, was mercifully relieved of the haunting memory by death.

Although it was shown that Barcliff was wholly blameless, he was never the same man after he learned the horrors of the accident. He didn't learn of this until weeks after the accident, as he himself suffered injuries that kept him in a hospital for a long time.

His wife tried to keep Barcliff in ignorance of the details of the wreck but he ran across an old paper and there read the gruesome story of the mangled children and heartbroken parents. He began brooding over the affair and in a few years "wore himself out" bodily and mentally.

The third case was that of Thomas Callahan, who went suddenly insane from thinking that his wife and baby had been burned to death in a fire that damaged his house.

The strange part of it was that the wife and baby had been away from home a week, visiting relatives, yet Callahan, after leaping to safety, imagined that his loved ones were in the flames and before he could get his mind to working right, it had refused to work at all. He is now confined in a hospital.

MORMONS WILL BE DRIVEN FROM LONDON

LONDON.—(Spl.)—According to today's Evening News, the home office will likely order the expulsion from England of Mormon missionaries.

The News says that Hans P. Freese, representing the American Women's International council, has convinced Home Secretary Churchill that proselytizing by Mormons constitutes a real menace and that Church III has decided that the missionaries can be expelled under the undesirable aliens act.

Chinese Egg Examiner.

The artificial incubation of ducks eggs is a thriving industry in some parts of China, more particularly in Canton, where a large and ready market encourages the business. The first thing to be done is to secure suitable eggs, and this is done by men who devote themselves entirely to the task during the summer months. The examiner spits on the ground and holding the egg up to the light, turns it round and judges its suitability by the state of the shell and the clearness of its contents.

The least appearance of cloudiness entails its rejection, so particular is the examiner, but nevertheless only from 8 per cent to 10 per cent of the eggs are rejected; none over seven days old are accepted. The skillful examiner can deal with 6,000 eggs in a day. The selected eggs are placed in shallow saucer shaped baskets with a lid similarly shaped, and each basket is set upon a wicker-work cylinder over a stove in a darkened room heated by charcoal braziers.—Feathered Life.

AEROPLANE MAIL SERVICE.

Already the aeroplane has gone from the range of a highly exciting sport into the realm of commercial utility. When the postoffice department gives formal permission for the carrying of Atlantic mails from a steamship approaching port to New York the carrying capacity of flying machines has been acquired. The aviator will take wing from the ship 50 miles or more off shore and beat the mail-tender many hours to the delivery of letters. If you write "by aeroplane" across the face of your letter, thus relieving the government of responsibility for loss, you can have the first direct and palpable benefit of the conquest of the air. Railroads, which have been enjoying mail subsidies from the government can also begin to figure on new sources of revenue. The aeroplane threatens to cut into their mail receipts before many years.—New York Press.

Among the many popular members of the royal family of England none are more beloved in the British Isles than the duchess of Fife and her two charming daughters.

The duchess of Fife was some years ago granted the title of princess royal, for she is the eldest sister of the present king, and was married in 1889 to the duke of Fife.

It was essentially a love match, the wooer having none of the titles and fortunes supposed to be necessary for the wooing of the daughter of a monarch. Cupid proved stronger than royal perquisites, however, and the duke and duchess were married and have lived a singularly happy home life since.

The Princess Alexandra was born in 1891 and Princess Maud, who is one of the prettiest of the royal princesses of Europe, was born two years later, and is just a debutante.

Alexandra cares very little for society and is, it is said, very shy, so shy in fact that she pleaded to delay her own debut until Maud was old enough to "come out" with her.

The princess royal herself cares very little for society, but merry little Princess Maud is very fond of gaiety and is constantly visiting among her many cousins, where she is always the life of the party.

Directors Must Settle.

Columbus, O., April 12.—Ohio Hays and six former directors of the National bank will have a judgment of $1647.52, which James T. Hays, a creditor obtained in the Franklin county courts, as a result of the extreme inertia action in settling these claims. Those named were: William S. Hays, who has been settling a bankruptcy case; A. A. Hays, S. H. Hays, W. H. Hays, J. H. Hays and H. A. Hays. The directors of the estate of James T. Hays, who was a partner in the National bank, were named in the judgment. The judgment was entered by Judge J. H. Hays, who is a creditor of the estate.

Eddy Found in Creek.

Steubenville, O., April 12.—The body of a girl was found in the Ohio river near Washington. It was supposed to be the body of Minnie Pence, the pretty 17-year-old girl who disappeared from her home about two months ago. She was in love with John S. Pence, but parents insisted upon her marriage. Frank Johnson, who was very friendly with John Pence, on the eve of her wedding to John Pence, she disappeared, and search for her has been in vain. A recent report that she had gone to Hungary was incorrect.

Convicts to Testify.

Mt. Vernon, O., April 12.—Montell Watha, William McKinley and Oliver Thomas, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the Newark lynching and sentenced to 20 years each, were brought here by guards from the Ohio penitentiary and placed in custody of Sheriff Parker. The trio were summoned as witnesses by the defense in the trial of Louis Bolton. As soon as the jury is secured the members will be taken to the scene of the lynching at Newark.

Last Hope Vanishes.

Columbus, O., April 12.—The supreme court overruled the motion of Cletus William, deemed convict, to file a petition in error in the Stark county circuit court, and he will be electrocuted April 21. William murdered William Koons, father-in-law, near Canton.

CHANGE TO GET ELECTRICITY

For Use on Farms in Lighting and in Running Machines—Saves in New England.

We hear considerable about water or barren land in the eastern states, says the Rural New Yorker. The land once produced good crops of grain and was a live factor in supplying food for the people. Now much of this land is idle, possibly used to rough pasture, but of little use to the world. We must remember the along with this land other forms of industry have gone out of service in New England, during the old days the hill towns were full of fine water powers, at which small mills or factories were located. With the decline of farming in these sections came abandonment of these powers, and many of them are now approaching ruin. There is such a power in a Connecticut town, and the description of it is given by E. H. H.

The water goes under instead of over the dam. The fall is a ledge about 15 feet with a dam of masonry about four feet high making a fall of 10 feet. The cause of this was and consequently the loss of power is not lost. It has been in one family since it was built. It was left by father to son, the last owner had no children. He got old and feeble, and could do no more, and did not feel like hiring help. He died within a year, and the mill was left to his wife and a lady. In a few years there will be nothing to tell that it was a mill, but the ledge. There are within a radius of 10 miles from where I am five dams where there have been mills in times gone by. One dam was used to years ago, but is now gone. The cause of some of them going down in the falling off in grain growing and the steam sawmills that have left the country pretty free from timber. There are some fine places for water-power in sections of the country, and no one sufficiently interested to consider using them. Surely their usefulness is not wholly gone.

It seems a shame that these fine water powers should be lost, says the Rural New Yorker, when there are so many uses to which electric power can be applied. With proper capital and a fair business sense, such a power as is here described could be made to light and heat a dozen or more farmhouses, and run the wheels of most ordinary machines. While a better fight is being made to prevent corporations from stealing water privileges on the Pacific coast, these old mill sites in the East are being abandoned. It is a shame that they should be lost to the world.

GOVERNMENT MAY SPEND MILLIONS IN FOREST RESERVES

WASHINGTON—[Sp.]—When congress passed the Appalachian-White Mountain forest reserve bill it entered, according to critics of the enterprise, upon a line of benevolence that may run into hundreds of millions of dollars.

It is a modest beginning, but assertions are made at the capitol that it will be only a few years before shovels are used to scoop dollars from the national treasury for the purchase of eastern and southern forest reserves.

In the west the reservations have been made on government lands. In the east the land long ago passed into private ownership and was cleared of its trees. The east, however, demands reserves, even though they have to be purchased.

Maps submitted with reports to congress show the hyphenated bill to cover a very sizable proposition. The Appalachian reserve is shown by a clouded strip on the maps that starts in northern Georgia and Alabama, follows the boundary line between Tennessee and North Carolina, crosses the narrow width of southwestern Virginia, meanders through West Virginia and into Maryland, almost to the Pennsylvania boundary.

The White Mountain reserve, according to the maps, absorbs the northern part of New Hampshire and a substantial block in the northwestern corner of Maine.

Probably the most graphic description of the country to be restored to the wild is to be credited to Senator Heyburn (Rep. Ida). "Three counties in New Hampshire, Carroll, Coos and Grafton are to be taken," he said. "The territory proposed to be purchased as a national forest is 17,500 acres at the last election."

In North Carolina it is proposed to purchase 10 counties, solid territory and additional property. The counties are: Buncombe, Cherokee, Graham, Haywood, Jackson, Macon, Madison, Mitchell, Swain and Yancey.

"It is claimed that the commission cannot buy these counties. The bill gives authority for the purchase and such authority is generally exercised. Now these counties cost 27,000 acres in the last election. There cannot be sold there. They have a population of 135,000."

In West Virginia the counties of McDowell, Logan, Mingo and Wyoming are to be devoted to the purposes provided for by this bill. They cost 15,000 acres in the last election and have a population of over 75,000 people.

I have not had time to figure the counties in Maine to be purchased but a large corner of the state is subject to be made a victim of this bill. Kentucky has a strip through it as large as some of the states.

One of the witnesses, a government officer, who appeared before the Congressional committee investigating the project, said the expenditures might amount to $100,000,000.

Several hundred thousands of people occupy these lands and they pay taxes amounting to millions of dollars every year.

Senator Barton (Rep. Ohio) is on record with the statement that this bill is only an entering wedge, a mere beginning for the making of similar purchases all over the country, amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars.

For ten years a contest was waged to get an appropriation for these reserves. Bills passed the Senate four or five times but they failed in the House. In the present Congress the bill received favorable action in both the House and Senate.

Just about four years ago the enterprise was presented as a plan to create forest reserves. Then some wise man discovered that government funds could not be used for that purpose. A resolution of the problem thus presented was found in calling the projects aids to navigation. The title of the bill was changed to set fourth that it was "for the protection of the watersheds of navigable streams."

The bill places in the control of the secretary of agriculture $100,000, to be used in co-operation with states in the protection from fire of the forest watersheds of navigable streams. Also there is appropriated $2,000,000 a year for five years for the examination and acquisition of lands located on the headwaters of navigable streams or those which are or which "may be" developed for navigable purposes.

There is created the national forest reserve commission consisting of the secretaries of war, interior and agriculture, two senators and two representatives. It is made the duty of the secretary of agriculture, to select suitable lands and recommend their purchase to the commission. Before any lands are purchased however they must be examined by the geological survey and a report made that control of such lands will promote or protect the navigation of streams on whose watersheds they lie.

As the army engineers have full charge of the improvement of rivers for navigation a number of congressmen contended that their judgment as to the protection of headwaters would be worth while. Advocates of the reserve, however, were shy of the proposal to give the army engineers a voice in the matter and succeeded in keeping that plan out of the bill.

The secretary of agriculture is authorized to purchase lands approved by the commission at prices fixed by the commission. Authority is given to persons selling lands to the government to retain minerals or merchantable timber.

Five per cent of the receipts from any forest acquired under the terms of the bill shall be paid annually to the state in which the forest is located. An allowance of $25,000 a year is given the commission to meet its expenses.

Much is said in reports on the lands under consideration of water power possibilities but there is no provision in the bill that refers to revenue to be received from the development of the power.

The geological survey, after measuring the stream of the southern Appalachian mountains for seven years, reported that they would afford 2,700,000 horse-power throughout the year. Development of storage facilities would increase this amount from three to thirty times.

It is estimated by the geological survey that at least 50 per cent of the indicated minimum horse-power, and probably much more, is available for economic development. On this basis the rental of 1,350,000 horse-power at $20 per annum is worth $27,000,000 per year. If there is taken in the same way 50 per cent of the power which is present for half the year there is an increase in this sum of 11,000,000, bringing the total to $38,000,000.

In the south, says secretary Wilson, "electric development plants have sprung up on nearly all streams, and in great numbers on those flowing through the Piedmont Plateau. While relatively little of the nearly 3,000,000 horse-power is as yet utilized, its utilization is increasing at a marvelous rate."

Ready power to the value of $18,000,000 will give the country tremendous advantage, not alone in manufacturing but in transportation, in lighting, and in every kind of development. Water power is especially valuable to these sections, which have no deposits of coal and its advantages are steadily enhanced in the future as the supply of coal grows scarcer and the price correspondingly higher.

On the great watersheds forming the White Mountain region the four most important streams of New England have their rise. Upon them are located the great cotton, woolen and paper mills of New England. They abound in fine water power only a part of which is now utilized. It has been estimated that the capital invested in the manufacturing enterprises which utilize the power of these streams amounts to $250,000,000.

The rivers having their headquarters in the White Mountain region are credited with about 400,000 horse-power.

The whole region under consideration in connection with the Appalachian forest reserve comprises about 11,500 square miles, having an approximate length of 400 miles, with a width varies from 25 to 60 square miles. It is not proposed, however, that any considerable portion of this section shall be purchased for the reserve. The direction is left with the secretary of agriculture.

The proposed reserve is described in a report as being predominantly a region of mountains and is of paramount importance for geographical as well as for forest reasons. It includes the most prominent geographical features of the northern states and contains the highest mountains east of the Mississippi river. Mount Mitchell in North Carolina is the highest peak, having an elevation of 6,625 feet. Over 10 peaks and 4,000 acres of land, time to the Blue Ridge and Catoctin mountains and preserving the region have an average elevation of 4,000 feet, while the whole region has an approximate altitude of 3,000 feet.

The White Mountain region, in which as far as the limits of the proposed White Mountain reserve are concerned, will be mostly in the north, approximately 800,000 acres, most of the land being far better suited to forest production than to agriculture. The three principal ranges of mountains, each 400 or more peaks over 5,000 feet in height, in the Franconia Range in the south, west Mount Lafayette towers 6,248 feet, flanked by mountains of nearly equal altitude. Mount Washington (6,291 feet), the second highest peak east of the Mississippi River, occupies a conspicuous position in the lofty presidential range in the center, while the Carter Range to the northeast, although not so high as either of the other ranges, contains peaks of very considerable elevation.

Among the benefits to be derived from the reserves according to the friends of the enterprise are the protection of navigable streams, the preservation and development of water power, conservation of forests that will yield a substantial revenue and reduction in the extent and violence of floods.

While some members of congress see in the purchase of land for forest reserves and aids to navigation a tremendous drain on the national treasury, a number of distinguished men have given their support to the project. Among these were President Roosevelt and Gifford Pinchot and a body of scientists who studied conditions in the regions to be purchased for the reserves and strongly urged their purchase by the government.

An Exact Replica.
The problem of fitting dresses is one that causes more difficulties to the home dressmaker than any other question in making frocks. Now days, however, this can be obviated by the expenditure of a few cents.
At any of the large department stores paper mache dresses forms may be purchased in the right bust measure, but as every woman has some slight characteristic which makes the regular measurements fit badly, the form after it is bought must be made to conform to the measurements of the woman herself.
To do this, buy a few yards of cheap lining. Get some one to fit this on you, taking in as many darts and seams as necessary, regardless of the general effect.
Next put this over the dress form and stuff with cotton every little place where it seems too large for the form.
Fill in with wee bits of wadding here and there till the lining fits snugly as it did on you, and then you will have an exact replica of your own figure upon which dresses may be fitted and materials draped without any trouble.
Pneumatic dress forms also come now, and may be blown up to fit in one of these tight linings a convenience that makes the same form do for several members of the family. However, the paper mache ones are far less expensive and answer every purpose.

Another thing which home dressmakers must watch in these days of lean sleeves is the fit under the arm.
Napoleon's Idea of Women.
Napoleon was as cranky about women as George Bernard Shaw, the classic unbeliever who says man proposes but woman disposes. A new book on the Little Corporal makes it plain it cost him no going to cast off Josephine. We read that Napoleon said: "Women are at the bottom of every intrigue. They ought to be kept to their household duties; they should be forbidden to appear in public unless they wear veils and black attire." Evidently if Napoleon were alive today he would have no patience with the helleborus suffragettes. But that is not the worst. "We don't understand women at all," says Western peoples," said Napoleon. "We have ruined everything by treating women too well, and we have committed the great mistake of placing them almost on a level with ourselves. The Eastern races display far more wisdom and sense of the fitness of things. They have debarred women to be strictly man's property, and as a matter of fact, nature has created them to be our slaves. It is only by reason of our perverted view of things that they dare to lay claim to any superiority over us. They abuse certain advantages they possess in getting us and then to turn them against us. For one woman who inspires us with worthy ideas there are a hundred who cause us to make fools of ourselves." It seems that Napoleon's contempt for women in this regard may be a New York Times.

The highest form of hospitality of which some people are capable is to entertain an idea.

Who would not rather be wounded by the thorns of the rose than stung by hairs of a nettle?

Some people work for fame and some work for money and some get a job on a newspaper.

There are some good painters who forget that a good brush, but all the paint is a waste of art.

The wife who has righteousness and justice is like a stock with good works but no hands.

It is not the man who is a genius but the man who is a genius who is a genius.

A man who is a genius is a man who is a genius.

The penitent man who wants to wear every cat that has been seen to think that the world is one cat latrine.

Nobody was really killed when it took to his heels and ran away from the dog with a bunch of sticks and stones tied to his tail.

Most of us would be kinder than we are if we could always be kind without feeling that we had been made an ass of it.

The things which a man can't do without are frequently the reasons why he has overdone his designs with them altogether.

Observe the above, now—how, he tolerantly ascends the steep path to success. Behold the flatterer—how he is carried thither on the shoulders of his victims.

House-Renting and House-Selling
Are Want Ad Tasks
They are such "usual tasks" for the want ads that it would be hard to find a rented house whose tenant did not find it through answering an ad—or an owned house whose purchase and sale did not originate in a classified ad.
If these facts are not significant to owners of property, no facts whatever would be.

German Balloonist Has All Plans Made for Air Voyage.

BERLIN (Special).—Herr Joseph Brucker, the Originator of a new and daring scheme to sail across the Atlantic Ocean in an airship, makes the following statement of his detailed plans for carrying out the project which the American, Walter Wellman, disastrously failed to achieve.—

"It was in February, 1999, that I suddenly conceived the idea of traversing the Atlantic Ocean by airship. It was Washington's birthday and the whole country was celebrating the event, and I had been reading the reports of Wilbur Wright's remarkable aeroplane flights in France.

"I asked myself why the Atlantic ocean should not be crossed, not by a heavier—than—air aeroplane, but by a lighter—than—air airship. I had long studied meteorology, so that it was not difficult for me to choose a route along which, all the year round, east winds blow towards Central America, and where the navigator need not fear either fog or thunderstorm."

The Spaniards name that belt of the Atlantic ocean the "Sea of Ladies" because it is so calm there that a weak feminine hand could steer a boat. Columbus with small vessels could never have reached America if he had not sailed along this route of favorable winds and current.

"I returned to Europe and spent three months at the International Aeronautical exposition at Frankfurt-on-Main, where I had an excellent opportunity of studying all sorts of types of aerial craft, and of conversing with many distinguished experts in aerial navigation.

These exhaustive studies, combined with the advice given to me by practical aeronauts, led to the conviction that a flight across the Atlantic ocean by the favorable route I had in view was well within the bounds of possibility.

"From the outset, I intended to replace the usual car, suspended from the gas-bag of the balloon, by a motor boat, which while suspended in the air would serve the purposes of an or-

MONTE CARLO — (Spi)—Lest Monte Carlo's career as a gambling center for the entire world be abruptly terminated, tremendous pressure is being brought by the Casino interests to affect a settlement between the Prince of Monaco and his subjects.

The progressive party is not at all satisfied with the constitution which the prince recently granted and a formidable revolutionary movement is brewing. The prince, on his side, thinks he has yielded enough and is standing out vigorously against any further concessions.

What the Casino interests fear is that so troublesome a situation may develop that France will be forced to establish an effective protectorate over the principality in which case it is considered certain that the Gallic authorities would have to suppress open gambling.

The most they have been able to do thus far is to obtain the progressives' promise to take no action until after the present season is over. The prince is of course satisfied to do nothing so long as he is no further troubled.

Law Only Calls Attention to Absinthe—Use It Openly.

GENEVA — (Spl.)—Switzerland's absolute prohibition law is proving a fizzle. Liquor dealers declare more of the drink is being consumed in the country now than before its manufacture and sale was prohibited.

its sale is attended with some risk, it is true, but the demand is so enormous that it simply has to be met. Prohibition apparently called the Swiss people's attention to the fact that they liked alcohol.

There are various ways of getting but the commonest one is for the would-be purchaser to tell the waiter in his favorite cafe: "I want to telephone." A minute afterward he goes into the booth and the absinthe is waiting for him on the telephone board. There isn't much concealment about it.

But if the new law hasn't done any good so far as the consumption of absinthe is concerned it has put a stop to its manufacture in Switzerland. It put a big national industry in the business because, in the face of the law, the drink is easier to import than it is to manufacture secretly.

The government is considering an allowance of between $300,000 and $500,000 to the ruined manufacturers. The manufacturers are trying to get about four times as much.

PARIS. (Spl.)—The American Ambassador, Robert Bacon and Captain Mason, United States consul general at Paris, have been invited especially to attend the Franco-American fete which is to take place at St. Die June 3, 4, and 5.

The consul general has accepted the invitation and it is thought Ambassador Bacon will likewise attend.

It was by the monks of an old monastery at St. Die that the first map of the world was made containing the outlines of the American continent and to which the name "America" was applied.
